Mission Statement

The Reproductive Health Response in Conflict (RHRC) Consortium is dedicated to the promotion of reproductive health among all persons affected by armed conflict. The RHRC Consortium promotes sustained access to comprehensive, high quality reproductive health programs in emergencies and advocates for policies that support reproductive health of persons affected by armed conflict.

The RHRC Consortium believes all persons have a right to quality reproductive health care and that reproductive health programming must promote rights, respect and responsibility for all. To this end, the RHRC Consortium adheres to three fundamental principles: using participatory approaches to involve the community at all stages of programming; encouraging reproductive health programming during all phases of emergencies, from the initial crisis to reconstruction and development; and employing a rights-based approach in all of its work, as articulated in the 1994 International Conference on Population and Development Program of Action.

Acknowledgements:

This emergency contraception distance learning module was principally developed by Connie Lee, an independent consultant to the Women's Commission for Refugee Women and Children. Sandra Krause, Julia Matthews, Diana Quick and Sarah Chynoweth of the Women's Commission for Refugee Women and Children provided project and editorial oversight. This module is based primarily on Pathfinder International's Emergency Contraceptive Pills, Second Edition, and Comprehensive Reproductive Health and Family Planning Training Curriculum, as well as WHO, JHSPH & USAID's Family Planning: A Global Handbook for Providers, but has been adapted for conflict settings.

We would like to thank Doris Bartel of CARE, Susan Purdin of Columbia University, Rachel Jones and Mary Otieno, both formerly of the International Rescue Committee, Meriwether Beatty of JSI Research and Training Institute, Samantha Guy of Marie Stopes International and Wilma Doedens of the United Nations Population Fund for their editing assistance. We also would like to express our appreciation for the many humanitarian workers who field-tested the document and provided insightful comments to improve the module and make it as user-friendly as possible.

This module was made possible by the generous support of the Compton Foundation and an anonymous donor.
